

CSC-192 Speaker/ Facilitator Evaluation Form

Seminar Title: Corporate Culture & Career Success

Speaker: Joseph Taylor Date: 10/20/23

The session was	Strongly Disagree	Disagree	Agree	Strongly Agree
Informative.	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	X
Enjoyable.	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	X
Relevant.	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	X
Inspirational.	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	X
Worth my time.	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	X

I learned something new about	Strongly Disagree	Disagree	Agree	Strongly Agree
Effective Resume Writing tips	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	X	<input type="radio"/>
Opportunities available at Sac State for Placement	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	X	<input type="radio"/>

- Aligning your values with those of your workplace can elevate your leadership abilities, much like steering a ship in the right direction as its captain. Aligning your values with those of your workplace can enhance your leadership skills, much like steering a ship as its captain guides it in the correct direction.
- It's never too late to change careers, even if you're into college and think you are far behind everyone your age, you are not. Comparison is a joy killer.
- Establishing shared values with those around you can facilitate better interpersonal relationships. It's akin to being part of a cohesive team working toward common objectives.
- You have to do more than required to stand out, getting a degree and a good GPA does not get you anything, internships, projects, team, hobbies make you stand out and get your dream job.
- Matching your values with the values of your workplace can help you become a better leader. It's like being a captain who steers the ship in the right direction