List 5 Key Take-Aways from the Seminar

- It's never too late to change careers, even if you're into college and think you are far behind everyone your age, you are not. Comparison is a joy killer.
- Build a resume that stands out, having more projects is better than having a better GPA
- Employers look at college degrees as a person that they can rely on to show up to work, and do their job just like they did in college to obtain the degree.
- You have to do more than required to stand out, getting a degree and a good GPA does not get you anything, internships, projects, team, hobbies make you stand out and get your dream job.
- One thing I loved from this seminar was, "What are you doing that you were not asked to do." Really makes you think about how to stand out.
